

ABOUT US

The Murals of the Mind Project (M.O.M.) is a nonprofit, 501c3 organization that has provided free and low cost programming to kids & teens ages 7-17 college age youth since 2007. Our mission is to increase youth literacy IQ. This is accomplished by engaging youth in our Literacy 360 Workshops Program, a series of unique literacy and life skills readiness workshops that include high school, college and career readiness, financial literacy, essay writing, creative writing, social justice/civic engagement, service learning, and mentoring. Workshops are facilitated in person and remotely via online platforms like Zoom.

Our vision is to awaken the imagination and curiosity of youth, tangibly assisting them with improving life outcomes. We strive to promote literacy, preparedness and educational excellence. M.O.M. encourages youth to custom design their narratives, expand peer networks, embrace their majesty; and celebrate and accept their uniqueness – quirks and all.

Our goal is to take a 360-degree approach to helping improve youth literacy and life skills readiness outcomes. Our “On the Road” program format enables us to go where the need is to get youth ready for 21st century opportunities. Programs, events and mentoring are youth-centered, diverse, imaginative, and fun.

EVENT OVERVIEW

M.O.M. is committed to helping youth succeed. Our 'On the Road' life skills readiness and mentoring workshops are open to kids & teens 7-17 and college age youth living in Philadelphia and surrounding communities.

Elevate! Social Justice & Civic Engagement Career Opportunities Panel Discussion: is a customizable in-person and online event that is open to teens ages 14-17 and college age youth. Elevate! is a platform for workforce development insight that enables participants to explore through conversation some of the many career options available within the social, civic and economic justice disciplines that help create positive change in the world.

Event topics discussed include:

- Maximizing & Expanding Social Networks to Identify Career Opportunities
- Capitalizing on Social Media Influence to Find Jobs
- Transitioning from Intern/Volunteer to Employee, Consultant or Apprentice
- Entrepreneurship: Customizing Your Own Career Path
- Identifying Social & Civic Engagement Opportunities Within Traditional Work Environment

Participants gain insight to ways they can custom design a careerpath that connects their passion, education, skills, interests, and abilities to desired opportunities. Participants also learn about personal branding and messaging. Networking and relationship cultivation along with follow up are explored as well.
